

I am strongly against the broadcast service known as Low Power FM (LPFM) and their ability to take priority over current FM translator services. I listen to K-LOVE every day and have seen how important that station is to our community. It helps our community realize that there are people out there that care about them. Without K-LOVE, people in our community would miss out on not only the great music they play, but the encouragement they offer each day. To allow an LPFM station to take priority over a station like K-LOVE would flat out be the wrong thing to do. K-LOVE is only on the air because the people that listen to it pay for it to be on the air through monthly donations. I pray that you will see the importance of this station to many people and keep LPFM's from having priority over current FM translators.
